

Language

Language — Expressive (Spoken)

1. Say the numbers out loud from 1 to 20, one at a time, at a steady pace.
2. Say the days of the week out loud in order, starting with Sunday.
3. Say the months of the year out loud in order, starting with January.
4. Look at an object near you right now. Say its name out loud, then say one word that describes it.
5. Picture a kitchen in your mind. Name out loud three objects you would expect to find there.
6. Here are three words: dog, park, morning. Say one full sentence out loud that uses all three.
7. Think of the word for the tool you use to cut paper. If it doesn't come right away, describe out loud what it does and what it looks like, then say the word.
8. Say out loud as many animals as you can in twenty seconds.

Language — Expressive (Written)

1. Write the numbers 1 through 20 in order, then read your list back out loud.
2. Write out the days of the week in order, starting with Sunday.
3. Write out the months of the year in order, starting with January.
4. Look at an object near you. Write one sentence describing what it looks like and what it is used for.
5. Here are three words: quickly, umbrella, rain. Write one full sentence using all three.
6. Write down the name of an object you can see right now. Underneath it, write one detail describing its color or shape.

Language — Receptive (Spoken)

1. Listen to this instruction: fold a piece of paper in half. Say out loud: is the paper bigger or smaller than before after folding it?
2. Listen to this instruction: pick up your phone, then set it down face down. Say out loud: what do you do to the phone right after you pick it up?
3. Listen to this instruction: stand up, walk to the nearest door, then sit back down. Say out loud: what is the last thing you do?.
4. Listen to this description: it is round, orange, and you peel it before eating it. Say out loud what is being described.
5. Listen: "The sun is cold at night." Say out loud whether that is true or false.
6. Listen to this instruction: place your keys under a book. Say out loud: which object did you move, the keys or the book?

7. Listen to this instruction: place a cup behind a plate. Say out loud: which object would you see first if you looked at them from the front?
8. Listen: "Maria packed her bag. She was going on a trip." Answer out loud: what was Maria doing?

Language — Receptive (Written)

1. Read this instruction: turn off a light switch near you. Type your answer: will the room get darker or brighter?
2. Read this instruction: pick up a pen, then set it down on your left. Type your answer: what do you do to the pen right after you pick it up?
3. Read this word: chair. Type one sentence describing what it is used for.
4. Read this description: it has four legs, a back, and people sit on it. Type the name of the object being described.
5. Read this instruction: place a pen between two books on your desk. Type your answer: how many books end up next to the pen?
6. Read: "Tom forgot his umbrella. It started to rain on his walk home." Type your answer: what problem did Tom have?

Speech

Speech — Motor Speech (Dysarthria)

1. Press your tongue firmly against the inside of your cheek, hold for three seconds, then relax. Repeat five times on each side, then say "la la la" out loud three times.
2. Say "oo-ee-oo-ee" out loud, rounding your lips fully on "oo" and spreading them fully on "ee." Repeat ten times.
3. Open your jaw slowly as wide as comfortable, then close it slowly. Repeat five times, then say "ah" with a fully open jaw.
4. Read out loud at half your normal speed, giving every word its own clear space: "I would like a glass of water, please."
5. Say out loud, exaggerating every consonant more than feels natural: "The big black cat sat on the mat."
6. Say out loud at a volume noticeably louder than normal, without shouting: "My voice is strong and clear today."
7. Tap the table once for each word while saying: "I am speaking one word at a time," keeping every tap evenly spaced.
8. Take a breath, say "I feel good today" in one breath. Pause, breathe, repeat twice more.

Speech — Fluency

1. Say out loud, starting the very first sound gently and gradually instead of with a hard push: "Amazing things can happen today."

2. Say these words using a light, relaxed touch on the first sound instead of pressing hard: pat, bat, top, dot.
3. Say as one continuous flow of sound, without stopping airflow between words: "I want to go outside and play."
4. Say out loud, stretching each syllable slightly longer than usual: "We are walking to the store together."
5. Say in three short chunks, breathing between each: "I woke up early / and made breakfast / before school."
6. Read at a deliberately slower, smoother pace: "The morning sun rose over the quiet hills as birds began to sing."
7. If a word ever feels stuck, pause fully for one second, then restart just that word slowly and gently before continuing.
8. Talk for one minute about your morning, using a soft gentle start on the first word of every sentence.

Speech — Social Pragmatic

1. Answer: "What did you eat for breakfast?" Then ask the same question back as if talking to a friend.
2. Pick a topic, like your favorite weekend activity. Talk out loud about it for three back-and-forth exchanges without changing the subject.
3. Imagine a coworker just found out a project they worked hard on got cancelled. Say how they probably feel, and why.
4. Think of someone smiling with arms crossed. Say what you think that expression and posture might mean.
5. Introduce yourself to someone new, including your name and one thing you enjoy doing.
6. Imagine a group of coworkers chatting in the break room. Say what you'd say to politely join the conversation.
7. Imagine someone spoke too quietly to understand. Say a polite way to ask them to repeat themselves.
8. Think of three things you did this morning, in order. Tell them as a short story with a beginning, middle, and end.

Speech — Voice Disorders

1. Hum gently for five seconds, feeling a light buzzing or vibration around your lips and nose.
2. Hum gently, then let the hum flow directly into "hello" out loud, keeping that forward, buzzy feeling.
3. Take a comfortable breath, then hold a steady "ee" sound for as long as comfortable, without straining.
4. Say "ee" out loud, sliding pitch smoothly from low to high like a gentle siren going up.
5. Say "oh" out loud, sliding pitch smoothly from high to low like a gentle siren going down.

6. Say short, firm "ee" sounds at a few different comfortable pitches, clear and easy, not strained.
7. Say out loud how much water you drank today and whether you did any shouting or a lot of throat-clearing.
8. Hum briefly, then say "My voice feels easy and comfortable" keeping that same easy, forward, buzzy voice feeling throughout.